

UML State Diagram represents the cycle of monitoring heart rate of a patient. The black circle at the beginning demonstrates monitoring stage, if a data threshold was breached the state changes to 'generated', later to sent, after sending a alert notification. Afterwards when alert is recieved it changes to acknowledged state and lastly to resolved after condition has been successfullly stabilized.